From My PEN

"The purpose of education is to make good human beings with skill and expertise. Enlightened human beings can be created by teachers". - A.P.J. Abdul Kalam

My heart felt appreciation to the parents who have chosen Sumitra Modern School, Naipalapur for framing the future of their children in the days to come.

It is not how much you know, how you present it that matters. Hard work clubbed with attitude to think differently and hunger to dream BIG makes a person excel in life. Hard work pays off well if the person is consistent and does it whole heartedly. The function of education is to teach them think intensively and critically. In this changing paraphernalia of education system, we need to support students to actually own their learning. We should be a learning partner, not a provider. Classroom time should be dedicated to self-discovery. At all ages, students must have a sense of Who they are, How they learn, What they want to learn and Why they want to learn. Students should be taught the success of failure. They must learn the art of accepting challenges and to have the courage to accept the reality. Teaching and learning should be self-driven applications. Students should be encouraged for self-learning. Give them an Apple and let them identify the taste, colour and shape.

Dr. Raavee Tripathi

From The Principal's Desk

Alvin Toffler rightly said, "The illiterate of the 21st century will not be those who cannot read and write, but those who cannot learn, unlearn and relearn."

The purpose of education on a fundamental level is to help you develop individual thought and to waddle through life using your head. It is something that teaches you the importance and the necessity of being able to teach yourself.

Education liberates the mind from darkness to light of freedom. Today each one of us is worried about the restlessness and lack of concentration in children. And the only solution for it is parents' involvement.

A proper education can be ensured for your children when the parent becomes involved in a positive way in their education. Your positive involvement lets your children realize the importance of their education. Not only has this it also sends the message of the level of expectation you have for them.

Focusing more on practical approach is our priority instead of putting stress on the theoretical parts. Regular orientation, exposure to state and national level competition builds the morale of our students and enhances their confidence too.

In constant changing environment, having life skills is an essential part of being able to meet the challenges of everyday life. To cope with the increasing pace and change of modern life, students need new life skills such as the ability to deal with stress, handle pressure and frustration.

Life skills equip students to thrive in the classroom and in the world beyond.

"Changes call for innovation, and innovation leads to progress."
